Post Graduate Diploma in Middle East and South Asian Security

Objectives:

The Post Graduate diploma course in Middle East and South Asian Security is organized over one year (two semesters) to give students an in-depth understanding of the Middle East and South Asian regions of the world. The aim of the course is to provide a comprehensive study of the history, geography and political and security situation of the contemporary Middle East and South Asia. The first semester of the course is designed to acquaint the student to the historical and geographical evolution of the two regions and study the geopolitics and foreign policies of the major powers in both regions. The second semester specifically looks at conflict, peace efforts and the security challenges faced in the region. The Middle East and South Asia have emerged as two of the most significant regions of the global system in the post-Cold War period. A student of the Post-Graduate Diploma course in Middle East and South Asian Security would be trained as a subject and area expert and have opportunities as a policy analyst / researcher with think tanks, policy organizations, risk analysis firms across various sectors and industries.
